Organisation

The third year English course covers various grammar topics in the grammar book Oxford English Grammar Course (details below). These units will focus on various past, present and future tenses, modal verbs, conditionals, passives, relative clauses, and the use of adjectives and adverbs. Additionally, a selection of topical vocabulary taken from Oxford Word Skills will help students acquire essential vocabulary needed for more precise oral and written expression.

Students will read the book I am the Messenger by Markus Zusak. Focus will be given to content as well as to the topics found in the book. In conjunction with these topics, students will have to give a personally researched presentation to the class. Students are required to make the link between the topics found in the book and life in our society. In-class discussions will allow students to practise spontaneous oral communication (speaking and listening).

Students will practise writing clearly structured argumentative essays linked to current issues.

The goal is to reach a CEF B1+ level.
