Organisation

The second-year English course covers units 6-10 of the Oxford course book Insight. Each unit is divided into five sub-chapters (A-E), four of which are dealt with in the course (A-D). Different topical themes provide the framework for each unit, with each sub-chapter emphasizing the acquisition of one specific skill: sub-chapter A deals with vocabulary, sub-chapter B with grammar, sub-chapter C with listening and speaking, sub-chapter D with culture in the English-speaking world. In addition to the course book, students will read one unabridged book or two simplified readers throughout the year. The first book will be used primarily to learn vocabulary and grammar and to develop reading comprehension skills. The second book serves as a basis for topical presentations in which pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary and oral skills are tested. The end of the second year culminates in a promotion exam, where students will be tested on their listening and reading skills as well as vocabulary and grammar learned throughout their first two years at the ECGF/FMSF.
